

Health Centers:

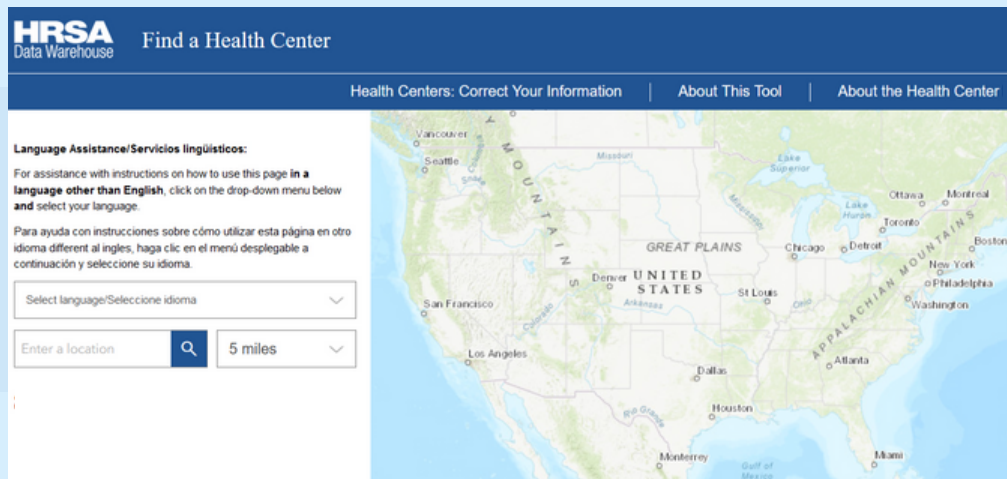

Low-Cost Health Services for Farmworkers and Their Families

Health Centers are health clinics that receive government funding to serve migratory and seasonal farmworkers and their families by offering discounted health services, even for people without insurance.*

These Health Centers Provide Primary and Preventative Care Services like:

- Treatment for illnesses like COVID-19 and the flu
- Treatment for chronic diseases like diabetes and arthritis
- Pediatrics, men's, and women's health
- Information about heat stress and hydration
- General health education/screenings
- Vaccines
- Blood pressure checks
- Prescription medication

Find Health Centers in your area using this online map from the US Health and Human Services Department <https://findahealthcenter.hrsa.gov/>

Share this information with your workers and be the bridge that connects them to better health!
77% of farmworkers report trusting their employer for health information!

*These discounted services are available to all community members (including employers) and are calculated based on income and family size. Migratory and seasonal farmworkers include H-2A, immigrants, and domestic workers.

Questions about how to find a health center or health services for farmworkers?
Contact NCFH's Call for health
1 (800) 377-9968
WhatsApp: 1 (737) 414-5121

