About us

We are the National Center for Farmworker Health!

- A national nonprofit whose mission is to improve the health of agricultural worker families. For almost 50 years we have provided training, technical assistance, and resources to all who serve the agricultural worker community in order to increase access to quality healthcare services to these essential workers and their families.
- We are also a lead organization in the Ag Worker Access Campaign, a national initiative to increase the number of agricultural workers served in federally funded health centers across the U.S. We work to understand the barriers to accessing health care that this underserved population faces and partner with health centers and other agricultural worker-serving organizations locally, regionally, and nationally to address these needs.

WE CARE ABOUT AMERICA'S AGRICULTURAL WORKERS

About Agricultural Worker Health Symposia

After more than 30 years of offering annual in-person workforce development opportunities through the Regional Stream Forums, we are excited to share our new offerings of two annual, national Agricultural Worker Health Symposia to continue meeting the ever-changing needs of the health center workforce.

- The Symposia are based on three foundational pillars: in-depth learning, community and connectedness, and leadership development -- all essential to developing the next generation of Agricultural Worker Health Champions that will continue to lead this movement forward.
- The purpose/goal of these national events is to offer participants a deeper dive into a given topic area of high priority to staff and board of health centers and other agricultural worker-serving organizations through hands-on learning and peer-to-peer sharing of strategies, challenges, successes, and resources.

Join us in as we enter a new era for agricultural worker-specific workforce development trainings by being a sponsor of our inaugural event in December 2024!
